Oscar Fingall O'Flahertie Wills Wilde was born in Dublin in 1854. He was educated in Trinity College, Dublin and Magdalen College, Oxford, where, a disciple of Pater, founded a club. In 1884 he married Constance Lloyd, and his two children were born in 1885 and 1886. His novel, The Picture of Dorian Gray (1891), and the social comedies Lady Windermere's Fan (1892), to Woman of no importance (1893). An Ideal Husband (1895), and The Importance of Being Earnest (1895), established its reputation. In 1895, after his defamation action against the Marquise of Queensberry, Wilde was sentenced to two years of prison for homosexual behavior, as a result of which he wrote The Ballad of Reading Gaol (1898), and his confessional letter of deep deep (1905). In his release of prison in 1897 he lived in darkness in Europe, and died in Parage in 1900. Wyniki Mogąa zerà Przykà Ady Wyraà¼eà½ Wulgarnych. The last line of the work is Jack declaring that he has realized the "vital importance of being serious." Is it unimposic? Has that have really learned some type of moral lecton? Questions for greater consideration follow your teacher's instructions to respond to the following indications such as optional exhibition writing activities. Be sure to include evidence of the work in your answers. All the characters are seriously ridiculous in their own unique forms, and yet, we always revive with them, never with them. What is the difference between the two and what does it matter? Importance of being sincere the affections and idiosyncrasy of Victorian high society, and yet it was greatly popular, especially among those to whom parody. How did we count this? What happens with the language and the characters of the work make it so pleasant for the Victorians? What makes it so pleasant for us today? George Bernard Shaw, friend and playwright of Oscar Wilde, did not like Earnest, calling him "really ruthless play." Do you agree with this critics? What does it mean for a work of art to have "heart?" A work of art needs heart to be good? Resources for future research in a conversation with Andre Gide, Oscar Wilde declared: "I put all my genius in my life; I put only my talents in my work. Link Main characters Jack Worthing Minor characters Moncrieff, Cecily Cardew, Gwendolen Fairfax, Miss Prism and Lady Bracknell. Adjustment Place: London and Y In England Time: Around the year 1890 Narrator 3D Narrator Summary Jack Worthing (who lives in Woolton) visit his friend Algernon Moncrieff, who lives in London. To the people of Woolton Jack said that he would visit his brother Ernest, who is very sick (only that he can go to London sometimes) and the people of London say that his name is Ernest. Algernon explains that he is not really Ernest, but Jack. Algernon says that he always tells people that he has an invited friend named Mr. Bunburry, when he wants to leave London for a while. Then Lady Bracknell (Alfonse de Algernon) and Gwendolen Fairfax (Cousin de Algernon) visit Algernon. Jack asks Gwendolen to marry But Lady Bracknell does not allow her daughter to marry Jack, because she doesn't know who is her true parents. When Jack gives Gwendolen's direction, Algernon listens very carefully, because he wants to see Cecily Cardew. Jack is the guardian of Cecily and he had told her about her. Algernon wants to meet her. In Woolton Algernon he goes to Cecily and the woman who cares about her, Ms. Prism. Algernon says his name is Ernest and is Jack's brother. Then Jack enters and says that Ernest is dead, he says because he no longer wants to lie. But then he sees Algernon who says he is Jack's brother. Jack and Algernon argue about it. When Algernon and Cecily are alone again, Algernon asks Cecily to marry Then Gwendolen enters, because she wants to see Jack. Gwendolen and Cecily speak between Sà but when they find out that both want to marry à Ernestà, they argue about that, because they think he is the same man. That Jack and Algernon come and the girls understand that the men who love are two different people. But then it comes to light that men are not called à¼øernestà¼, but and Algernon. Gwendolen and Cecily are angry and go to another room. Later, when the four are together again, Cecily asks Algernon why he said he was Jack's brother and Gwendolen asks Jack why he said he had a brother. The men respond to lied to be with the girls and then the girls forgive them. There is only one problem, the girls would only want to marry men because there is name. Men think that is not a problem because they already decided to be baptized (with the name of Ernest). Then Lady Bracknell enters. She allows Cecily and Algernon to marry, but she still does not allow Gwendolen and Jack to marry. Jack says he will not allow Cecily to marry Algernon, if she can't get married with Gwendolen. When the prism is going into the room, she and Lady Bracknell tell Jack that he is the son of Lady Bracknell's sister. So he is Algernon's older brother. The men come to the conclusion that they did not lie, because Algernon is Jack's brother and Jack has a brother. Now Jack can marry Gwendolen, because he knows who are her parents. So, Jack tries to discover how much his name is. In the lists of the Eji½rcito he tries to find the name of his father. That name is Ernest John Moncrieff, so that Jack's real name is Ernest! Now all the people are very happy. The issue is seriously explaining the title, it is very important to be serious. Jack is lying a lot, but at the end of the story he comes to the conclusion that it is better that he can always tell the truth. He names some things you like and some things that you don't like about the book. I think the book was very fun, I liked that. I think it was a lot of fun that Algernon and Jack discovered that they are brothers and that they would not lie to Gwendolen and Cecily.
